SUPERINTENDENT'S ANNUAL REPORT

Centralization of Schools

During the past few years the tendency to eliminate one-room schools by combining them or consolidating them into larger units has gained considerable impetus in New Hampshire. Among the six districts in this Supervisory Union, Holderness is now the only one retaining the one-room school system. We are fortunate, as I have pointed out in previous reports, in being able to secure well-trained and experienced teachers for our schools, but this is because in every case these teachers happened to live near enough to the school so they found it convenient to remain at home and carry on the work in Holderness. Unless we can find people like these nearby, the securing of trained teachers for one-room schools is almost impossible.

Last year at the annual district meeting a committee was appointed to study and recommend improvements in our school system. The members of this committee have met several times and studied the problem carefully. They will have some report to make at the 1949 district meeting.

It seems to me there are four or five possibilities for Holderness to consider. First, we might vote to build a central school and transfer all our pupils from the four districts to this location. It would probably be a four-room school, with a small activity room used for general meetings, as a lunch room and for moving pictures, etc. In the four classrooms we would have two grades in each room. The total number of pupils would probably not exceed 100, since those who live on River Street near Plymouth ought not to be required to transfer to the new school.

The second possibility would be for Holderness and Ashland to join together under the cooperative school district law and maintain an elementary school which would take care of both districts. Ashland has an urgent need for more room for elementary pupils. One school for both Holderness and Ashland would house about 300. This would be very much more economical to administer than to carry on two separate schools, one in each town. I believe the transportation problem would be equally simple because it would be no harder to carry all the Holderness pupils to a school located across the Ashland town line than it would to any point decided upon within the limits of Holderness. It goes without saying that a school of 300 pupils would provide more facilities than the smaller school would find it possible to do. Of course a plan of this sort would depend upon mutual willingness of the two districts to cooperate in the construction and maintenance of an elementary school. The school board in such a case would have members from both districts served. In such an arrangement the River street pupils should still, I think, be permitted to attend school in Plymouth.

The third possibility is for Holderness and Plymouth to join as a cooperative district. This would have the advantage of eliminating the question as to where River street pupils should be assigned. It would also involve some agreement with the Teachers College, which uses the Plymouth elementary schools for its student teaching program.

Fourth—we might try temporarily the plan of combining two or more one-room schools now in use by transferring pupils from one building to the other in order to make fewer grades for each teacher. Such a proposal was suggested last August when the school board arranged to have the Bridge school carried on as a grammar school (grades 5 to 8) and the Carr school as a primary school (grades 1 to 4), and provide for bus transportation between the two buildings. Considerable opposition was expressed to this plan, especially by parents of pupils in the Carr school, and the school board thought best not to attempt this combination. Since schools began, however, a number of parents have expressed themselves to me as wishing this plan could have been tried. I believe many difficulties in the one-room school are caused by the association of older pupils with the primary grades on the playgrounds as well as in the school room. This difficulty could largely be avoided and each teacher would have much more time for each individual group if she did not have to spread her efforts over seven or eight different grades during the short schoolday. A third advantage would be that there would be more pupils in each grade which tends to increase interest. One or two alone in one grade have little incentive because of lack of competition.

The fifth plan would be to continue for the time being to have one-room schools in the hope that conditions would change and it would be a better time to build next year. Since so much interest is being shown in proposed cooperative plans for building larger high schools in the state, it seems quite possible that fundamental changes may be made in the entire district system of New Hampshire during the next few years. If Holderness, for instance, is likely to be asked to cooperate in the construction of a new high school with other districts, it is quite uncertain just what effect this might have on our plans for an elementary school.

Until the Legislature of 1949 completes its work, it seems to me it would not be appropriate for Holderness to recommend new building arrangements. Let us find out where we are going before we start. On the other hand, no expense for construction would be involved in a re-grouping of grades such as was proposed last summer for the Carr and Bridge schools. I still think this plan is worth trying and that parents once accustomed to it would not like to go back to the present system.

School Marks

One of the commonest complaints that people bring to the superintendent and school board is that their children are not getting good marks, and they often blame the teacher. It would seem that any teacher who is willing to give pupils A's and B's, whether they have earned them or not, is considered by the parents a good teacher. On the other hand, most of us older persons can remember some one teacher of our own school days who was really a severe marker but who taught us more than many others who were more lenient. The really important question for parents is, Are my children learning and growing? instead of asking, Do they get A's and B's? Some educational writers advocate dispensing with school marks altogether. Perhaps this would be a good thing, but parents seem to expect them and pupils will work hard to get better marks. I do feel strongly that a teacher should not be blamed if a pupil's marks are low. The chances are she is really teaching them more than some teachers who take the easy road to give Johnny and Marie an A just because they tried hard, whether they understand the work or not.

Cooperative Districts

In my last year's report I pointed out that a law passed by the 1947 Legislature makes it permissible for two or more districts to join together and pool their resources to maintain schools. Groups of school officials in this section of the state as well as elsewhere are giving this matter serious study. The small high schools—such as Meredith, Ashland and Plymouth—find themselves at a disadvantage in furnishing a sufficient variety of courses and adequate equipment in their present small buildings and with the limited resources at hand. I am convinced that such small units, especially on the secondary level, must combine together into larger units if they are going to be able to provide the education that the young people of our generation should have.

Report of the Special Committee on Improvement of School Facilities in the Town of Holderness

The committee feels that a major change in our plant facilities must be made. It does not feel that any sizeable sum of money ought to be spent in improving our one-room schools because no matter how much money we spend on these buildings they will never be facilities adequate to give our Holderness children the best modern education we want them to have. In purchasing any equipment for the present one-room schools we should ask ourselves this question. Can this equipment be used at a later date in any new school the district feels it may want to have?

We had hoped to have some specific facts and figures to present to the annual district meeting, but we have not felt it advisable to proceed too rapidly for the following reasons. First, there is legislation pending in Congress now which may make Federal money available to us for improving our educational program and for helping us in any building program we may desire to embark upon. Any such money, it looks now, would come to us with no strings attached and would be available for us to use in any way the district sees fit. Aid of 40-50% of any building cost by the Federal government is the figure we have heard mentioned. Second, the State Department of Education is preparing new bills for the consideration of the 1949 legislature. Such new laws enacted might influence materially our consideration of the local school problem. Third, there has been much activity in the past year in regard to the creation of co-operative school districts. Two such co-operative districts are being considered seriously in the Plymouth area and the Meredith area. Holderness is vitally concerned with what might develop here. It is the committee's opinion that we should not go too rapidly on a program of our own until we know what the larger towns around us are going to do. Fourth, there is the problem of building costs. Costs are very high at the present moment, but there is the possibility that these costs may taper off somewhat in the immediate future. It might be advisable to wait a bit and see what the future will bring in the way of building costs.

Although the committee does not feel it can recommend any major changes at this time, it does want to advocate some minor changes. The idea of a shuttle system between schools so that fewer grades are crowded into each room has much to recommend it. A shuttle system between the Carr and Bridge schools has already been discussed. Perhaps a shuttle between the East school and the Bridge might be more feasible. Although such a shuttle system involves no actual improvement in facilities, it would mean that our existing facilities could be used more efficiently by the children. The committee also feels that each school ought to have a half dozen or so movable desk-chair units so that each teacher could provide work for individual groups when the occasion arose. As it is now, the seating is rigid and very little flexible instruction of the modern type can be offered in our schools. Furthermore, the committee feels that the School Board should purchase more recreational equipment like bats, balls, basketball hoops, etc., which would enable the teachers to carry on some playground activity. Students at the Teachers' college in Plymouth might be hired for a small figure to help conduct these extra activities. To help with such work the committee feels that there should be some work done to grade up the grounds around the Elm and Bridge schools which are often nothing more than mudholes and to level off a small area in the Carr School yard to facilitate the construction of further swings at this school. And finally, the committee hopes that some concerted effort can be made to organize a hot lunch program for each school and provide the necessary facilities for such an activity.

In view of the uncertainty outlined in the second paragraph of this report, the committee feels that further study of our local school problem must be made during the coming year. A new committee should be appointed to function at once. During the past year we have had two committees at work: one to study the improvement of school facilities and one to study the problem of co-operative school districts. The work of these two committees obviously overlaps. To simplify matters this committee feels that one committee should be appointed for the coming year to consider both problems together.

ANNUAL REPORT OF SCHOOL NURSE

The following is the report of the school nurse for the past year.

No. of School visits	90
No. of home visits	29
No. of pupils inspected	98

Dr. Feiner did the physical examinations in the four Holderness schools. Result of examinations:

Defective teeth	16
Defective vision	6

(5 are corrected with glasses)

Enlarged tonsils	11
Enlarged glands	15
Cardiac condition	1
Wax in ears	8

Transportation was furnished for the following pupils: 2 pupils had their eyes refracted by Dr. Hernandez in Laconia; 5 pupils had their eyes refracted by Dr. Leavitt in Laconia; 1 pupil had a tonsilectomy at Laconia Hospital; 4 pupils had dental work done by Dr. Crowell in Plymouth; 5 pupils went to the T. B. Clinic and 2 had chest x-rays.

I wish to thank the Holderness Red Cross chapter for the same splendid program which they have sponsored for several years. They have paid 3c for each bottle of milk—the pupils paid 1c and the Federal Government paid 2c. Due to the increase in price per bottle, the pupils will be asked to pay 2c a drinker in the future. Also vitamin pills as prescribed by Dr. Feiner were given each pupil once a day and inoculations of influenza serum were given by Dr. Feiner to each pupil whose parents wished it. In addition to the foregoing, dental work and a tonsilectomy were sponsored by the Red Cross.

I wish to express my appreciation also to the Superintendent, the school board and the teachers who have cooperated in carrying out the health program.

Respectfully submitted,

EVA A. HENEY, R.N.
